Enviro Camp

The week of July 7th to 11th was a varied and exciting experience, true to its theme "Anything Goes." The campers were visited by a representative from Marineland Right Whale Network who gave a presentation that taught them about the special mother whales that come to our waters to teach their babies how to live in the Atlantic. On Friday, the campers visited the beach and were met by the Volusia County Beach Patrol who spoke about water safety and the importance of the patrol. Staff from the Ormond Beach Library came to The Casements to give a very interesting presentation. A variety of experiments were conducted throughout the week and a number of crafts were made by all the campers. What a busy and fun filled week!

Summer Sounds

The first of three concerts in our Summer Sounds series was a success! In the beginning, the Community Events crew encountered some technical issues during set up, but thanks to the diligent and professional work from our PAC sound crew Marc Schwartz and Ryan Harriss, we were able to proceed with the show.

Our great band, Brad Yates and MO'mentum, arrived to perform early and ended up leaving later than expected. Brad Yates and his fellow musicians played many classic rock oldies. A local ice cream vendor was stationed in Rockefeller Gardens, and The Casements Guild set up a tent to sell snacks and sodas. The spectator turnout was great as the gardens were filled up from the front to about the middle - a fantastic way to spend a hot summer evening! We look forward to tonight's Summer Sounds band, Liquid Jade, starting at 7:00 p.m. For more information on the concert series, please see the last page of this issue of the Weekly Review.

We hope to see you there!

Last Week of Art Camp

July 14-18th was the final week of instructor Pat Spano's "Artful Expressions" camp. This final week focused on "Beachy Treasures," utilizing the seaside resources of Ormond Beach.

The popular art camp ran for five weeks in The Casements, from 9:00 a.m. until noon each week-day. Pat Spano's summer art camps provide fun and creativity, covering a wide range of media and subjects.

Cooking With the Coaches

Camp T-Rec continued with "Cooking With the Coaches" week. The week was filled with food, cooking and fun.

The campers made pancakes on Monday, tacos on Tuesday, cake pops on Wednesday, subs on Thursday and a cookout with the parents on Friday. Our special guest for the week was Derrick from Jimmy Johns who taught the children how subs are made at the restaurant.

Of course, with all the yummy food, the campers visited the playground and gym to run off the extra calories.

The Lost Concert

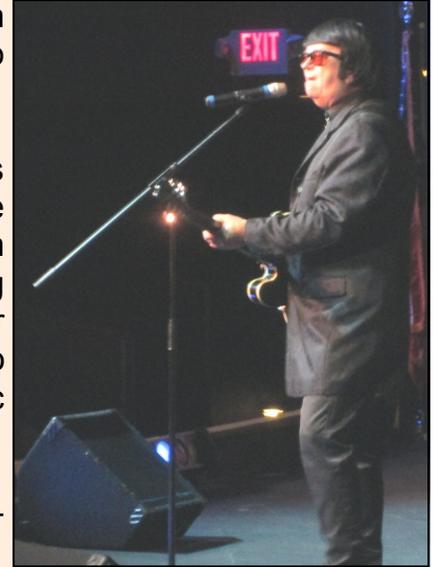

“The Lost Concert” Tribute To Elvis and Roy Orbison was performed at the Ormond Beach Performing Arts Center on Sunday, July 13th. Tribute artists Peter Alden performed as Elvis, and Brian McCollough performed as Roy Orbison. Elvis and Roy Orbison planned to perform together, but it did not happen during their lifetimes. The show featured performances of songs from both iconic singers as well as with the two singing as a duo.

Ken Brady of The Casinos served as host of the show. Special guest Cote Deonath, a rising young star still in his teens, performed his amazing tribute to Elvis. The Dukes, a popular Central Florida-based singing duo known for keeping the oldies alive, then performed an energetic set that the audience loved.

This incredible lineup of talent provided a show that met with thunderous applause and standing ovations from the audience.

Walking with the Manager

Friday, July 11, was a typically hot summer day for the Walking with the Manager, as several citizens joined City Manager Joyce Shanahan on her walk. Joanne Naumann, Neighborhood Improvement Manager, was her guest walker.

The group met at The Casements, 25 Riverside Drive, and after a brief meet and greet, started on their two mile journey in the surrounding neighborhood. The group headed down Riverside Drive, and walked on Bosarvey Drive, Seton Trail, Seminole Drive before heading back to The Casements.

The group was interested in diverse subjects, which included tree health, vacant foreclosed homes and general code enforcement matters.

Walking with the Manager is generally held on a monthly basis and information for the walk is posted on the City's website, www.ormondbeach.org.
