Dear Ms. Cilento:

We have enclosed performance for City of Ormond Beach General Employees' Pension Plan for the period ending September 30, 2017. Relevant indices have been included for comparison purposes.

As expected, the Federal Reserve decided to pause in the pace of rate hikes at the September FOMC meeting by maintaining the fed funds rate in a range of 1.00% - 1.25%. However, this meeting ushered a new phase in monetary policy. The quantitative easing policies which began in 2008 are being replaced with balance sheet reduction starting in October. Although the details of the tapering of reinvestment of the Federal Reserve System Open Market Account were outlined in June, the start date of the process was previously unknown. Regarding the economy and inflation, Federal Reserve Chairman Yellen expressed "uncertainty about the inflation outlook" but made her case for reduced accommodation by stating the labor market could become "overheated" without future rate hikes. Additionally, she stated "persistently easy monetary policy" could lead to financial instability.

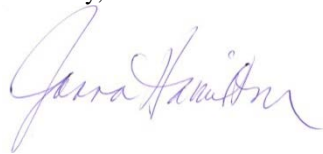

The 10-year Treasury yield rose by 3 basis points to end the quarter at 2.33%. The 2-year yield finished the quarter 9 basis points higher at 1.48% while the yield of the 30-year Treasury increased 2 basis points to 2.86%. These moves caused the 2-30 year yield spread to flatten by 8 basis points to 138 basis points.

Despite the modest rise in rates, the bond market still experienced a positive return of 0.85% for the Bloomberg Barclays Aggregate Index and a return on the Bloomberg Barclays Intermediate Government Credit Index of 0.60% this quarter. Investors in spread product were rewarded this quarter as all four of the spread sectors delivered positive excess return. Leading the way was the corporate sector with 87 basis points of excess return. The mortgage-backed securities sector and the agency sector followed suit with 47 basis points and 45 basis points of excess return, respectively. The asset-backed securities sector was the laggard this quarter with an excess return of 14 basis points. Thus, the Bloomberg Barclays Aggregate Index had 41 basis points of excess return this quarter.

We maintained a shorter duration than the benchmark index in anticipation of higher interest rates. Additionally, we maintained our "barbell" positioning in anticipation of a flatter yield curve.

Please do not hesitate to contact us if you have any questions or comments.

Sincerely,

Janna Hamilton
Partner

Client Report Disclosures

PERFORMANCE DATA

Performance data represents historically achieved results for a client's portfolio(s), and is no guarantee of future performance. The market or economic conditions during this period may or may not be repeated. There may be differences between the performance shown and the performance results achieved by any other client retaining Garcia Hamilton for the same investment strategy. Benchmark results are shown for comparison purposes only. The benchmark represents an unmanaged portfolio with characteristics which are similar to the portfolio(s). The returns of the benchmark do not include any transaction costs, management fees or other costs. The holdings in the client's portfolio(s) may differ significantly from the securities that comprise the benchmark shown. The benchmark has been selected by the client as an appropriate benchmark with which to compare the performance of the portfolio(s).
