

City of Ormond Beach Political Sign Regulations

Per Section 13-71, Signs, of the City's Code of Ordinances, the unauthorized alteration, destruction, or removal of a political sign of a candidate or of a political committee, other than its removal by a city employee enforcing Section 3-46 of the Land Development Code, as amended, or a state employee enforcing Chapter 479, Florida Statutes, shall constitute an unfair campaign practice and a municipal ordinance violation punishable as provided in Section 1-9 of the City's Code.

Please note, per your sign permit, signs may not be placed:

- On any public property. Any signs placed on city property will be removed by the Neighborhood Improvement Division.
- On or over any public right-of-way. The right-of-way can generally be considered from the far edge of the sidewalk or electric utility poles to the roadway; however, that is no guarantee. It is best to make sure signs are placed well away from the roadway.
- On private property without the prior consent of the owner of or an occupant with the authority to give such consent (this includes homeowners associations for signs you wish to place in subdivision common areas).
- On any tree, shrub, vine, utility structure, or upon any part of a building except where such building is contiguous to the street or sidewalk, in which case such sign may be affixed to the building.

Signs that are placed illegally will be removed by the City's Neighborhood Improvement Division and deducted from the sign bond for each such removal.
